Georgia State University: a giant, complex, throbbing urban university in the heart of a great city. There are great people here, and this year has been the best ever at Georgia State.

Great events, great speakers, great fun and great times: we have made GSU unique this year. The things we have done are here recorded, to the best of our abilities and somewhere else, beyond our comprehension.

This year, 1977-1978, has been a special year. An eager year; an anxious year; a beginning and ending year.

Made special by special people, this year was eager to begin, anxious to see what it could become.

The participation of special groups — like the Greeks or many "independent" groups in intramurals, helped to reach those ideals, the hopes, and the dreams. Dreams of glory, hopes of success, ideals of comradeship.

Special happenings made this year special, also. Atlanta saw a series of fires, with one striking close to home — the Ivan Allen fire across Central City Park. The concert with the Mike Greene Band distinguished this year, also, making it more unique, more special; more ours and no one else's.

Now we look back at this year; these people; these activities.

Henry Malone was a learned scholar, an appealing teacher, a careful administrator, a public-spirited citizen, and a Christian gentleman.

He was devoted to Georgia State University and made it the center of his enterprise. The University was dear to his mind and heart, and he always talked about the good things the University does.

Henry's mother once said that Henry came into the world singing and dancing. And that aptly describes him, for he was always exuberant and eager about life and the vicissitudes it presented him.

I have desired to go where springs not fail,
To fields where falls no sharp and sided hail
And a few lilies blow.

And I have asked to be where no storms come,
In the green swell of the havens dumb
And out of the swing of the sea.

". . . a creative outlet in the spring . . ."

The Players on their way to perform in the park.

The GSU Band plays in Central City Park.

Spring fever lasts more than a week. It is months in coming — beginning with the slow realization as spring arrives that something is on the verge of happening which we have missed, whether consciously or sub-consciously, for months.

Spring: the topic of thousands of poems in hundreds of languages through many generations. A time of regeneration, of rebirth, of reawakening. The season of love and bare feet. With spring comes the symbolic shedding of heavy socks and shirts and coats. Mittens and scarves are put away for the moths to eat at until another time. And with the shedding of clothes is the shedding of the cold, closed up loneliness that many of us experience in the winter months. Not that we are victims of the circumstance of the weather — it's just that for many, the cold cramps our style.

Then comes spring fever — when we need it most. When the possibility looks the bleakest, then spring comes. And the fever of it — the awakening — lasts more than a week.

Spring is a bad time to go to school. The surplus energy, which is spent on keeping warm during the winter months and makes youth desirable to the aged, needs a creative outlet in the spring.

In an effort to channel this energy, we have Spring Fever Week: a week of music parties, performers, contests, dances, and general respite from the monotony of life.

The week's events involved almost every GSU student, and included a night at Six Flags with a hot dog supper and an evening concert with Brother Bait, a dance party at the Marriott, a day at Stone Mountain ending with a dance, then a hayride, an ISC bake sale, "Dunk the Deans," free ice cream, Michael Marlin, Steve Smith, a Peanut giveaway, an ice cream eating contest, the Michael Leonhardt Band . . . the list goes on and on. Heavy, Light and Dark performed their new disco song "Atlanta" and others in Hurt Park, and Bear Creek bluegrass band performed in the GSU plaza. The GSU players, the Band and the Gospel Choir performed in Central City Park . . .

Everyone loved it as demonstrated by Mayor Jackson's plan to proclaim GSU's Spring Fever Week as Spring Fever Week for the entire city.

". . . representative of the Greeks."

Each year during Greek Week, there is a Greek Goddess Pageant to select a representative of the Greeks. The sororities and fraternities each sponsor one girl. Competition is based on poise, personality, and appearance. The 1977 Greek Goddess was Louetta Nowlin, representing Alpha Xi Delta. The first runner-up was Linda Love, representing Sigma Phi Epsilon and second runner-up was Brenda England, representing Delta Gamma.

"The Lady's Not for Burning"

"The Lady's Not for Burning" written by Christopher Fry was presented by the Players spring quarter on May 10-15 and 18-21. The play, a blank verse comedy was set in medieval times. The plot revolved around Thomas Mendip, expertly played by David Myrick, a man dissatisfied with life, who tries to get the town's authorities to hang him. He falls in love with Jennette Jourdemayne, (also expertly) played by Rosamond Powell, an eccentric young woman alleged to be a witch, whom the town's authorities want to burn at the stake. The two end up escaping: Thomas escapes his desire — hanging, and Jennette escapes her death.

The play had much appeal to the more intellectual and serious minded of the University, who received it well.

In addition to the comic relief which the play provided for post-war England as it opened in 1948 in London, the play also provides an interesting sideline for present day consideration: the non-acceptance of people who are different from ourselves and our norms.

"Dancing for those who can't" is one of the major themes of Delta Zeta's sixth annual dance marathon for Muscular Dystrophy. The goal is an honest and pure one — to raise as much money as possible for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The agenda included a warm-up party, a Mr. and Miss Dance Marathon Contest, a "Willis the Guard Lock-up" where Willis the Guard of WQXI radio was locked up until a fixed amount of Pepsi's and 7-Up's were sold. Then the actual dance itself: twenty-four hours of music with ten live bands. Also included were a "scoop-a-thon" sponsored by Atlanta area Baskin-Robbins stores, a photo booth, a "guess the amount" contest where tickets were bought to guess the total amount of money raised at the Dance Marathon, with the closest guess being the winning one. The marathon ended with the 96-Rock Midnight Movie for Charity, featuring the Beatles' classic "Let It Be."

Many Atlanta businesses were involved and provided help without which the marathon would not have been so successful. In addition, the help of WRAS was indispensable.

"Done for Love," the Delta Zeta Marathon was certainly done well, and certainly deserved all the support it got and our continued support in the future.

". . . an exuberant festival . . ."

One of our most colorful events is the ceremonious confirmation of degrees upon our graduates — commencement. The ceremony involves many of our instructors and administrators robed in their academic attire, which gives the visual impression of dramatic splendor, and it is held at the end of each quarter, giving every graduate the opportunity to participate.

An average of 4500 students are graduated each year from GSU, and what an emotional release it must be to graduate! The culmination — the commencement — of all the work is, at GSU, a celebrated time of joy. A jubilee — an exuberant festival of color and rejoicing!

GEORGIA STATE UNIVERSITY

". . . a meeting place . . . soapbox . . ."

Georgia State is a meeting place, a watering hole, a soapbox: a forum for some of the South's greatest thinkers, statesmen, and diplomats. Each quarter a few drop by and entertain, challenge or stimulate us. Poets come and read their poetry. Actors and actresses come and speak. Yet often the speaker is neither statesman, poet, nor actor.

One such speaker, neither statesman, poet, nor actor is Harvard psychology professor David C. McClelland. As the guest of the Franklin Foundation Lecture Services and the GSU Chair of Private Enterprise, Mr. McClelland addressed a group interested in "Recent Advances in the Job Competency Analysis," and a second group interested in "Entrepreneurship and Management: The Years Ahead." McClelland is also the author of many articles and books in psychology, including "Power: The Inner Experience," and "The Achieving Society."

Of course, not all of the speakers are serious. Some are fun. the SGA Speakers Committee presented Mel Blanc — the voice of such immortals as Bugs Bunny, the Road Runner, Porky Pig, and Elmer Fudd, to name a few. In an evening of memories mixed with laughter, Mel brought cartoons, slides, and tapes, along with his magic voice.

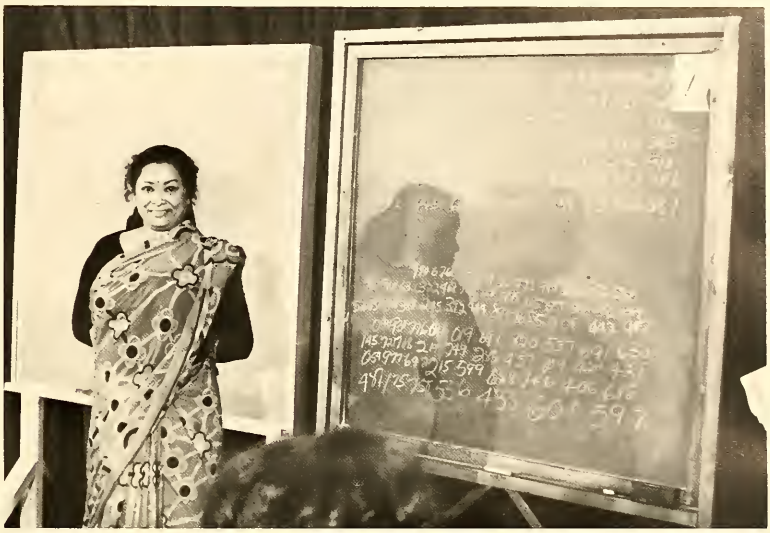
Dean Rusk speaks at Communications Banquet.

Mel Blanc, the voice of Bugs Bunny and others.

Dean Beverly Smith and Dean James Culp enjoy the mathematic wizardry of Shankuntala Devi.

American Social Scientist William Mandel, author of "Soviet Women" spoke about the differences between the women of Russian and American cultures. Soviet women, Mandel said, have more rights and greater social mobility than do American women. He also said that there is "total individual choice" in selecting one's occupation in the Soviet Union. Mandel served as UPI's Russian expert during WWII, and feels that as a result of his personal experience, he can say that the Soviet Union, China, and Cuba do not have "communist governments" but rather are socialists who consider themselves to have a communist system. He concluded by saying that in the area of race relations, and in relations between the sexes, the United States has much to learn from the Soviet Union.

Gail Fisher, emmy award-winning actress and co-star in Mannix (1968-1975) freely spoke about acting, and about life. About life she said, "If you really want anything badly enough, put your energies into it, and think positively about it and you'll get it." Gail is a recipient of the Golden Globe acting award and a graduate of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. She calls her acting style "Method Acting" and defined it as "drawing on one's own life experiences to give realism to the performance of a role." "One thing about method acting," she added, "is that you'll never be bad. Some performances will be better than others, but you'll never be bad."



Shankuntala Devi and her 991 digit number.

Captivated audience asks questions of Mel Blanc.

One interesting thing about an urban university such as ours is its diversity. To serve so many students, there are many fields, and to augment each there are speakers and special interest topics. The result is that everyone receives a richer education. If the goal of a college education is a larger frame of reference, as many say it is, then the best possible way to get the largest frame of reference is to participate in many diverse things. Diversity of experience with concentration in one particular area are keypoints in higher education.

Nina Ausienko, a guest of GSU's Russian Cultural Society, expanded the frame of reference of some people when she spoke on "the problems of Soviet Writers" — a topic with which few of us have had experience. A "dissident" writer in the United States is usually a socially critical one. But in Russia a "dissident" writer is one who writes about the personal problems of life in the USSR, for up until the "Thaw Period" of the mid-60's the Russian government would not admit that the Russian people actually had personal problems. Even though the Russian government has relaxed Russia writers restrictions, honesty still must be sacrificed for security.

Is the United States now a "Middle Eastern" country? Lawrence L. Whetten, a roving professor of political science came and answered "yes." Whetten says that the United States has become the central figure in the Middle Eastern Triangle.

And what is the 281st root of a 991-digit number? Well, to Shakuntala Devi, world-record holder for speed in accurately deriving the 23rd root of a 201-digit number, the answer on the number! Devi, a native of India and quite a math expert, on tour of American colleges and universities, stopped at Georgia State to beat our own Univac 70/7 in the derivation of the 281st root of a 991-digit number (which had been carefully prepared by our computer center staff so as to not contain any pattern to make it easier for her). Devi began her mathematic exhibitions at the age of three, and by the time she was eight years old she could beat most hand computers. Some at GSU were skeptical, but all were amazed when Devi's answer was correct, and delivered quicker than the Univac's!

Entertain, challenge, stimulate — Georgia State University — a meeting place, a watering hole, a soapbox.

". . . entertaining relief . . ."

Entertainment is an entertaining and enlightening part of all of our lives. Without the relief of good entertainment monotony might easily set in.

Brick provided a major part of our entertainment here spring quarter. Presented by the SGA Concerts Committee, Brick was an excellent choice and gave a good concert.

Craig Aronoff was also good concert — as part of the faculty he showed that there are many talented individuals where we sometimes do not expect them to be. In a faculty spotlight, Aronoff and his piano were quite impressive.

The GSU orchestra with John Sumrall presented Timofey Dokschutzer, Russian trumpet virtuoso and principal trumpet of the Bolshoi Ballet and Opera Theatre Orchestra.

Brick's drummer's expressions reflects the band's intensity.

Spotlight on faculty member, Craig Aronoff, as he performs on the piano.

Spring quarter is an active time at GSU with SGA elections, RAMPWAY and REVIEW distribution, concerts, speakers and so forth: the usual things. This spring quarter was distinctively unique, however, and was made so by the conflict over the proposed student activity fee increase and Dr. Glenn Thomas' resignation and reinstatement.

Dave Wallace was elected to be the new SGA president, and there is always excitement at RAMPWAY distribution, and wonderment at what both it, and the REVIEW will contain. But, not even these tore things up like asking for another five dollars from each student each quarter. The SIGNAL ran spotlights and front page stories each issue, petitions were signed, committees were formed by the SGA, met, then were disbanded. The five dollars was to update and strengthen our athletic department; a worthwhile goal in almost everyone's mind. Yet, it's one thing to be in favor of a stronger athletic department, and entirely another to financially support it. Still an unresolved issue, the athletic fee is currently being studied to make the ultimate decision as to whether or not the fee will go into effect and, if so, when.

And Dr. Glenn Thomas, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, stirred things up also, but in a different way. It seems that there was a bit of a disagreement over how a certain $30,000 was to be spent. Dr. Thomas' desire was to raise the pay in the music, foreign language and history departments, but to do so in the way he proposed was contrary to the "recently adopted university policy." Yet, his desire indicates a genuine concern for his faculty. When Dr. Thomas resigned, it was a powerful objection to the policy, but when he later reconsidered and agreed to follow the established policy, he was reinstated as dean.

Among the et cetera: MARTA signed a $108,000 two-year contract with our Archaeology Department to dig at MARTA's construction sights for the purpose of "assessing the historical, archaeological, and cultural impact of MARTA construction" on Atlanta, and to advise MARTA on how to eliminate any adverse impact of the construction on the city.

Sidney Thomas, head of the acquisition department for the Pullen Library, in a year and half swam over 350 miles in the recreation department's "swim for fitness" program. His is the greatest achievement so far in the program.

Of course, there were other interesting things to happen during spring quarter, but some are best told elsewhere, and some are best not told at all.

INCEPT

To thousands of newly entering freshmen and transfer students, Incept provides not only a first impression of GSU, but also a friendly face.

Incept orients new GSU students to their urban environment, and provides a relaxed atmosphere in which questions can be asked, and the personal observations and experiences of the Inceptors can be shared.

It works like this: the new students receive warm letters of welcome inviting them to attend one of the nine convenient conferences. If the student then responds positively, that he or she can attend, information is sent explaining what will happen, when to come, where to park, and how long the conference should last. As the students then arrive, they are warmly greeted and given a name tag along with quite a lot of informative literature. Next everyone comes together for a formal greeting by representatives from the administration, then into small groups for a tour of the University campus, and a free lunch.

Of special interest to the freshmen is the two day Incept which includes meals for the two days, a night at the Marriott, a dance with a live band the first night, then a program the evening of the second day which includes the freshmen and their parents.

Incept — preparing our new students for life at our urban university.

". . . pie-eating contest . . ."

Another of the many activities which the Day Care staff provides for the children of GSU students is an annual picnic.

This year there was music and a pie-eating contest, along with relay races and swimming; all events took place at Indian Creek Lodge.

". . . monsters and puppets . . ."

The GSU Hourly Day Care Center sponsored an art exhibit from August 8-12. The exhibit featured arts and crafts created by children ranging in age from three months to nine years. The highlight of the exhibit was a monster and puppet display done by the four and five years olds. The crafts displayed included basket-weaving, ceramics, easel art, finger painting, sand casting, and soap printing.

The annual Leadership Conclave was held at Camp Mickell in Toccoa. The 135 student leaders who went attended interesting workshops, among which were "Leadership Styles," "Recruitment and Retention of Members," and "Motivation of Self."

The conclave, which has quite a history at GSU, is held annually to promote communication between student leaders and the faculty and administration. In addition, the conclave provides a sounding board for new ideas and thoughts, and an opportunity for feedback and strengthening of good ideas through common effort and purpose.

". . . new ideas through common effort . . ."

The atmosphere at Camp Mickell is one of openness, which allows new ideas to be born.

Summer — the theme of thousands of poems, the topic of many discussions, the time of relaxed inhibitions, and of released desires which are cramped and pushed down when the weather will not allow us complete freedom to experience the exuberance of looseness in the sun. The sun, water, trees, grass: cool evenings at the end of hot days, clear mornings and clear life; summer quarter at GSU saw all this and more.

As always, there was intellectual progress as classes continued — ignorant of the fact that the heat of summer in the city was upon us and time spent in the sun would have been more enjoyable than time spent in classes.

Summer quarter was also the time for activity within the structure of the University as plans were dismissed to expand the Kell Hall refectory due to lack of space . . . ("Space, the final frontier . . .). And as enrollment dropped, nationwide energy saving measures went into effect, including warmer classrooms, but it wasn't too bad — if anything, it brought us closer to nature.

Dave Wallace, newly elected SGA president, talked about the administration, his goals and GSU's athletic program. The SGA studied possible changes in its constitution, and even considered total restructuring; Sun Belt Conference Commissioner Victor Bubas speaks of his pleasure over the start of the Sun Belt Conference; MARTA digging continued; funds and positions were made available to allow "day care" at night — child care services for night students.

Robert Randall smoked pot on the Urban Life Plaza — Randall, the only person in the country legalized to smoke marijuana — was in Atlanta to work with the National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws and paid us a visit. Also in Atlanta were the three STAR WARS stars, who discussed their science fiction fantasy.

GSU professor Costas G. Alexandrides interviewed President Carter for the new book the professor is writing, as Phillip Thornberry, the new Urban Life Cafeteria manager, said that GSU students can expect some changes in the menu and appearance of the Urban Life Cafeteria. Twenty-one Japanese businessmen participated in the Japanese Business and Society in America Seminar at GSU; the athletic department adopted the new sports colors of royal blue and powder blue.

Head basketball Coach Jack Waters resigned to pursue a career in private business, as a Georgia State student announced his candidacy for the Mayoral election in Atlanta. George Pendleton, GSU basketball star, became the fourth draft choice of the Indiana Pacers. George was the first GSU player to be drafted into the NBA.

Of particular significance summer quarter was the hiring of Roger Couch as head basketball coach. Coach Couch came to us from Oglethorpe through Vanderbilt, and brings with him a winning championship record. A native of Atlanta, Coach Couch played at Decatur High School, then at Oglethorpe. Given the benefit of choosing his own team and a little time, Coach Couch should put GSU basketball where it belongs — at the top.

An interesting quarter — an eventful quarter — summer quarter at GSU.

". . . make bids . . ."

Each year the fraternities and sororities on campus make bids to new and newly interested students for membership in their organizations. This fall, 422 men and women signed up to formally participate, and of those, 203 pledged to become members of the organization with which they were most impressed.

To allow interested individuals an opportunity to observe the Greek organizations, both fraternities and sororities prepare many parties and interesting activities. This system, called "Greek Rush," is an effective means of increasing membership because it coordinates people interested in joining and organizations interested in getting new, qualified members.

". . . Hoddy Toddy Body Contest . . ."

The high point of the Sigma Nu calendar is their sweepstakes, held at the GSU Lodge on November 5th. Five Georgia State sororities entered the sweepstakes. The overall events contest and the spirit competition was won by Delta Zeta. Other events included Zipper Stripper, an Egg Toss, a Life-saver Relay, a Flour Dive, Ride-a-brother, Tug of war, Musical Tubs, and the Bat Spin. The highlight was the Hoddy Toddy Body Contest, which was won by Robin Messer, a Delta Zeta. The money collected went to the Dekalb Humane Society.

". . . no substitute for commitment . . ."

Greek life at GSU is distinctive. Perhaps it has something to do with the fact that there are no dorms or houses for the Greeks on campus. Perhaps the lack of these traditional facilities has caused Greek life at GSU to become closer knit than even "traditional" Greeks are viewed as being. Tradition often is a substitute for commitment, and lack of commitment among the Greeks is not a problem. Apathy? The Greek GSU student cares, and cares enough to say so.

GSU has a strong and active Greek system — even more active than many colleges and universities that have dorms and houses. This is attributable to the people involved in the Greek system themselves: people like Dean Buttermore and the IFC and ISC presidents, Wade Patrick and Alicia Castleberry, the officers of the individual fraternities and sororities and, not the least of all, the brothers and sisters involved.

The Greeks are involved in almost every aspect of GSU — leadership, athletics, publications, academics — and are proud of it. This year the Greeks played a large part in many crucial decisions that faced the students and administration by coming out as a solid block either for or against whatever the topic might have been. And that is not to be taken lightly, as Greek support, or the lack of it, could make or break an issue.

In addition, the Greeks were involved in a large number of fund raising activities, intramural athletics, and plain good times. The Delta Zeta Dance Marathon contest for Muscular Dystrophy, Pi Kappa Phi's Feed the Children drive, Tau Kappa Epsilon's toys for tots drive: all are excellent examples of the Greek's community service adventures. Sigma Nu Sweepstakes and the intramural football scores can both easily vouch for Greek involvement in intramurals and good times.

"The Bells Are Ringing"

For the first time since 1959, "The Bells Are Ringing" was seen in Atlanta. This delightful musical, presented in the GSU Student Center Theater, was performed by the GSU Players.

Capacity crowds were thrilled each night as the players, with expertise, sang, danced, and brought to us the message that helping others can sometimes get us into hot water, but in the end helping others is better than living a life of isolation, caring for no one: giving no love.

The thrilling performances featured Eileen Walsh as Ella Peterson and Payton Montague as Jeff Moss, as well as the rest of the Players in an evening of enjoyment.

". . . a great time . . ."

WRAS' "Back to School Special" on the first day of classes Fall Quarter introduced new students to WRAS and allowed returning students a chance to get reacquainted with record and poster give-aways. This set the stage for their September 25th road rally.

The Sixth Annual WRAS-Road Atlanta Rally started at 10 o'clock in the morning at Perimeter Mall, and about three hours later ended up at Road Atlanta for a concert with Motion, a local band.

The entry fee of $5.00, minus expenses, was given to the American Cancer Society, with the total contribution being $1,079.00.

Everyone had a great time, especially Andy Ford and Larry Kolesky, the driver and navigator of the winning car.

For the students who are parents GSU provides an hourly child care center which operates fifteen hours a day, Monday through Friday, for children between the ages of two months and six years. A moderate fee charge is to assist in providing the full-time director and staff.

This service provided by the University means that more people can further their education than would otherwise be possible, and at the same time have their children exposed to the intellectually stimulating atmosphere of the south's fastest growing university.

". . . a growing honorary . . ."

Sure to be a growing honorary, GSU is fortunate to have the alpha chapter of Golden Key Honor Society, with two GSU students as national president and national secretary, James W. Lewis and Mary H. Evans, respectively.

Golden Key was begun with the purpose of honoring scholastically superior students, accepted as new members 412 GSU students during the fall ceremony in the Urban Life Building. Many new chapters are being planned for other colleges and universities, so it is expected that Golden Key will become a nationally recognized honorary.

Honored at the Golden Key reception with honorary membership were several prominent local and national political figures.

The Art and Music Departments sponsor many diverse and interesting activities each year, including the GSU Orchestra, the "Music Concert Series," and the annual pottery and print sale.

We at GSU have much to be proud of in these two departments — they are among the best in the state. The orchestra is top ranked and is an all volunteer organization. The dedication of the performers is evident in both their performance and the time they spend each week in rehearsal. Under the skillful and talented direction of John Naskiewicz, the orchestra performed several times each quarter, offering with each performance new and different selections.

In addition to the orchestra, the Music Department offers the "Music Concert Series," which features a variety of musical performances as often as twice a week with a variety of performers; many of whom are visiting guests and masters of their instruments.

The Art Department sponsors the pottery and print sale, which offers art students a chance to display and sell their creations. For anyone interested in buying beautiful and functional pots or prints, the pottery and print sale is an excellent opportunity. Of course, any art student will witness the fact that original art is an excellent investment; and any psychologist (or self-actualized person) will agree that buying art satisfies some primeval yearning.

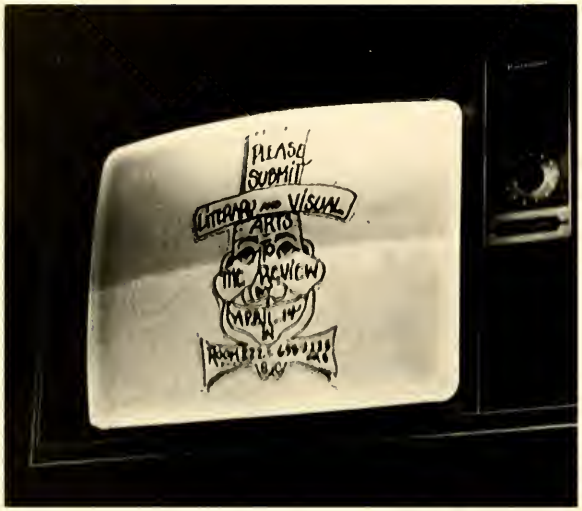
". . . its new image . . ."



CCTV daily offers news services to students by way of the closed circuit television (CCTV) stations in the halls, but this service seems only moderate when compared to CCTV's telethon fall quarter to collect contributions for the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The telethon, which also had as purposes promoting student involvement in CCTV and its new image, was co-sponsored by the Association Programs Board of the Student Government Association, and was successful all the way around. Students found out more about what CCTV is and that they can become involved and learn about filming and writing for television.

The big concert of fall quarter was the October Summerfest Concert, which featured the Mike Greene Band. Sponsored by the SGA Concerts Committee, the Mike Greene Concert was thought to be a big success.

Other concerts included Teakwood, who performed in the Student Center Lounge, and Twin Peaks, who performed on the plaza, both during the ten o'clock break.

It was with feelings of remorse and regret at the loss of summer as it waned that we turned to face another fall quarter.

As fall approached, we who had chosen to continue educationally perhaps regretted the choice, but made preparation anyway for the first day of class.

Things cranked up at GSU and our educational machine, after a well greased summer followed by the between quarter break (and a good nap), once again, though at first sputtering and creaking — it so easily rusts, this educational machine — got the stiffness out and began to operate as always: with the efficiency and the expediency of all of the seniors who would soon graduate, with the memories of an old man, and with the anxious anticipation of a five-year-old.

The quarter's events started with a three day conference on cholera by the United States/Japan Cooperative Medical Science Program, with Sherman R. Day returning to GSU as Dean of the College of Education, with Margie Sloan, a GSU alumna, being named Miss Wheelchair of America, and with the soccer team opening a season with great expectations.

The GSU Department of Anthropology began operation of a center to help minority cultures adjust to Atlanta and vice versa, while more than 200 drivers made the trip from Perimeter Mall to Road Atlanta on the Sunday morning of the sixth annual WRAS Road Rally. And as the annual Oktoberfest drew record crowds in Helen, Georgia, GSU's Rankin Cooter and Joe Krasavec made a study that said that health spas might not be all they are cracked up to be.

GSU went into mourning as Dr. Henry T. Malone, Dean of General Studies and Professor of History here, died Wednesday morning, October 5, 1977. Dean Malone's 25 years of service at GSU included much responsibility and much achievement. Recipient of the Western Cherokee nations honorary title of "Ambassador of the Cherokee Nation," Dean Malone was also listed in "Who's Who in America," the "Directory of International Biography," and the "Directory of American Scholars."

Dean Malone's service to GSU included the innovative development of a number of degree programs included in which are hotel /motel administration, commercial music/ recording, and aviation administration. The author of two books, numerous articles, and an historical narrative accompanying the Civil War battle presentation at Stone Mountain, Dean Malone was director of alumni and development here before becoming dean in 1970. The loss of Dean Malone was a very great loss.

Things continued fall quarter as Muhammad Ali visited Atlanta to help President Carter promote his Friendship Force project, the soccer team beat Furman, bringing their record to 6-2 for the season, and GSU students gave blood during the annual American Red Cross Blood Drive on campus.

The SGA conducted a fee survey to determine student opinion on the controversial five dollar athletic fee increase, and a proposal was made to eliminate the need for coming to school five days a week by introducing Monday, Wednesday, Friday, and Tuesday, Thursday classes for day and night students alike.

Fall quarter closed. Christmas was coming! "Hark, hear the bells?" No more alarm clock bells until January third!

"The Boor"
"Feiffer's People"

Winter quarter saw the Players present "The Boor," an American adaptation of Anton Checkov's original, and scenes from "Feiffer's People," written by Jules Feiffer. "The Boor," originally set in Russia by Checkov, was re-set in the ante-bellum south, or, put another way, the "Old South just before the Late Unpleasantness" (referring to the Civil War). The play was superbly performed before capacity crowds in the Student Center theater, as were the 30 scenes from "Feiffer's People." "Feiffer's People" included four men and four women: Dan McCall, Bobby Wilson, Kelly Mills, and Chris Kayser; Marla Silverman, Kaethe George, Dee Watkins, and Sage McCarey. Some of the scenes the Feiffer's People played were titled "I'll never give up my independence," with woman number 3; "Bernard and his answering service" with man number 4, and "Man kissing and caressing a woman . . . their thoughts" with man number 4 and woman number 1.

Stars in "The Boor" include B. J. Austin as Caroline, Brenda Bradley as Ivey, Richard Eason as Maurice, Catherine Del Papa as Mrs. Calhoun, Dede Goree as Marcia Mae, and Bill Mumford as Lanier.

On January 18 WRAS celebrated its seventh birthday. Beginning January 18, 1971, WRAS has continually provided an alternative to commercial radio. Carl Jackson, this year's General Manager, is optimistic about the future of WRAS. According to Carl, after seven years of "on-the air" time, WRAS is entering into a new phase of broadcasting with the objective being more student oriented programs, campus news, and projects of special interest to GSU students. Pi Sigma Epsilon, an on campus marketing fraternity, is currently conducting a survey to determine what students want from an on-campus radio station. Carl is also optimistic about WRAS' output possibly being boosted to 100,000 watts, as GSU is a mega-metropolis university, and the extra wattage would allow WRAS to reach students which are not currently being reached.

". . . crowning Eleanor . . ."

Alpha Phi Alpha held their annual Miss Black and Gold Coronation this year on January 17, crowning Eleanor Daniels Miss Black and Gold, Veronica Hodges Miss Black, and Anita Arnold Miss Gold, in a packed Urban Life Auditorium. The twenty-one year old Miss Black and Gold for 1978 will compete in regional and national competition, having already won state competition.

The selection process is in the fall as Alpha Phi Alpha brothers submit names of girls whom they think would make good candidates. The girls are then screened, interviewed and if the general consensus of the brothers is that a particular girl has the necessary qualifications, she is chosen as Miss Black and Gold.

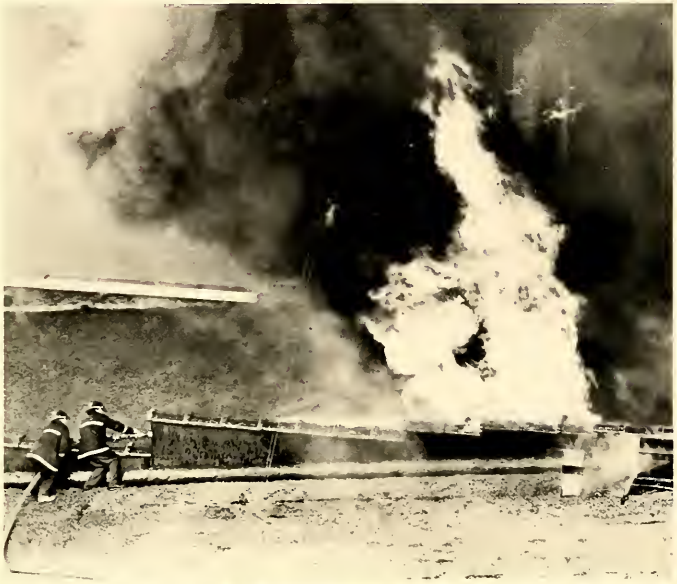
". . . fire and loss . . ."



Atlanta saw fire and loss as the ancient Lowe's Grand Theatre burned; and, closer to us, the Ivan Allen Building across Central City Park.

The Lowe's Grand, an historic Atlanta landmark, was the theatre where "Gone With the Wind" premiered in December of 1939.

"Black Awareness Week . . ."

Black Awareness Week, as sponsored by the SGA under the Black Life and Culture Committee, highlighted black people in the areas of art, education, journalism, literature, and music.

To do this diverse activities were planned, highlights of which included black art exhibitions in the Student Center Lounge, a dazzling musical panorama — "Black Magic" — in the Urban Life Auditorium, and a presentation on blacks in literature by Dr. Victor Kramer, Georgia State University Associate Professor of English. Then the high point of the week — Mr. Ed Bradley, CBS News Correspondent — spoke in Sparks Assembly Hall. The week culminated with "Recognizing Dr. Kiah" and blacks in education in the Urban Life building.

". . . beautiful girls . . ."

It was a fun-filled evening when we selected this year's Ms. RAMPWAY. The competition was tough, and to select five finalists and then one winner from all the beautiful girls who entered was quite a task. Luckily, the task was not ours: five judges were selected from the Atlanta area who were gracious enough to choose — so that there be no doubt — the girl to be the 1978 Ms. RAMPWAY. Held on February 13, 1978 in the Urban Life Auditorium with Bill Clay, associate editor of the RAMPWAY serving as emcee.

Our sincere congratulations to the beautiful Toni Harris, the 1978 Ms. RAMPWAY, and her court.

The high point of the basketball season was the Homecoming game. Not only was the game exciting, going into double overtime, before we beat the University of South Florida 92-84, but the entire Homecoming week was full of activity.

Things started Tuesday, February 14, with elections for Mr. and Miss GSU. Wednesday saw more voting and free donuts and coffee at the ten o'clock break, and there were free hotdogs and Coke at five o'clock on the plaza.

By Thursday things were rolling with a pep rally in the gym at the ten o'clock break, with the submitted banners being judged before the pep rally. By that afternoon down on Ivy Street things were beginning to get loose, then when the Pantherettes beat University of Georgia 74-65, the scene was set for the men to win and for a rewarding experience.

Homecoming week continued Friday wit the Lyceum film "Hester Street" and th Player's production "The Boor" and "Fei fer's People."

Saturday wrapped things up with "Th Spinners" concert in the gym, and th announcement of Mr. and Mrs. GSU, Dav Wallace and Lisa Adamson.

THE HACKERS HAVE STRUCK!

Winter quarter. What can be said? The cold creeped into our bones; the rain and the wind and the snow and the sleet all pounded into our faces. Who wanted to get out of bed to go to class? Why go to class anyway? For many, discouragement set in with the bad weather. Life, otherwise joyful, became as trudging as a journey on foot from the Kush Mountains to Siberia. Maybe it has something to do with a vitamin D deficiency — with all those coats and scarves and gloves and hats on, how can the sun (when it chose to shine) reach our skin?

Well, maybe it has nothing to do with the sun. It could just be that motivation drops with the thermometer.

Along different lines, food prices went up in the B&D, GSU gained accreditation for another ten years, the school closed because of snow and iced roads. The Panthers beat Mercer, and the GSU Commercial Music and Recording Department along with the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences sponsored a seminar in recording artist management.

As parking fines became a real threat to the happiness of some of us, the Board of Regents left the Municipal Auditorium off of their proposal which was presented to Governor Busbee to be presented to the State Legislature.

An adult cinema owner, George Echols, spoke to a GSU sociology class about h opinions regarding the way many Atlantar feel about X-rated movies and censorship a the Panthers returned from being on the ba ketball circuit.

Ed Bradley, CBS anchorman, came t GSU as Black Awareness Week develope and spoke on the importance of knowin your past, and plans were announced for th construction of an astronomy observatory o the roof of the Urban Life Building. Soccer

Soccer was one of GSU's most successl athletic adventures this year. With nine wi and only four losses, the Panthers had strong season and ended up only one gc away from the Sunbelt Conference Champ onship, as "in the space of 65 seconds" Jac sonville University scored twice against u then played the rest of the game witho allowing any more goals.

Men's Basketball

Victory will come to the Men's Basketball team. This season, however, it came seldom. In the toughest year GSU basketball has had yet, the Panthers are 5-18 through 22 games. Coach Couch commented that victory would continue to slip just out of reach if the team continued to make "crucial mistakes" late in their games.

The Panthers lost their first three games by a total of only seven points — losing to Pe broke, 78-75, West Chester, 85-83, and Ge gia Southern, 75-73.

Yet, even against tough teams like UNC Georgia Tech, Memphis State, Tennesse and all of the Sun Belt teams, 9 out of the fi eleven of which were on the road, our Pa thers have been tough to beat, and ha clawed each point from their opponent.

Women's Basketball

The Lady Panthers play well and represent GSU well, athletically. Consistently winning over some big names in southern colleges and universities, the Lady Panthers showed that there is much native talent and developed skill in Atlanta. It would seem that a university without a traditional campus would have a hard time recruiting varsity basketball players. We are thankful that this is not the case.

Through 17 games the Lady Panthers b ketball team stayed in good standing. T season record of 11-6 showed Terese Al with a 13.6 average points per game and a rebound per game average. Other high sc ers include Joyce Harrell with 13.5 aver points per game and 10.8 average rebou per game, and Shirley Fambro with 1 average points per game and 1.2 aver rebounds per game.

Swimming

The wet Panthers had a good year, winning against several colleges and universities in addition to winning, with 116 points, the Albany State College Invitational. Brian O'Neill, the breaker of several school records, won the 1000 yard freestyle with a GSU record time of 10:32. O'Neill also set a new record for the 100 yard freestyle with a time of 50 seconds. The Panthers' 400 yard medley team of Kevin Murphy, Ricky Cre Kevin Harpy and Jim Anglin also set a n school record with their winning time 3:59.

Other first place finishes included Al Gamble in the 200 yard freestyle and Ma Medly in the 200 yard butterfly, both agai Augusta College.

Recreational Services

It would be a misconception to think that in the urban environment in which GSU is set there is little or no provision for recreation. It is true that there are no wide open fields of grass and tall trees for soccer practice on campus and no place to stretch your legs with a mile or two run without seeing the same scenery, yet there is no cause for despair: the GSU recreation department is as varied as the area of recreation itself.

Intramurals

GSU sported a very active intramural schedule this year with a combined total of 28 teams or individuals competing in flag football, volleyball, coed volleyball, one-on-one basketball, racquetball, men's tennis doubles, and turkey trot.

Flag football champions were the "Misfits" in first place independent competition and the "A.K.'s" in second place, with Tau Kappa Epsilon the winner of Greek comp tion (as well as winner of the All-Univers play-off) and Alpha Phi Alpha in Greek s ond place.

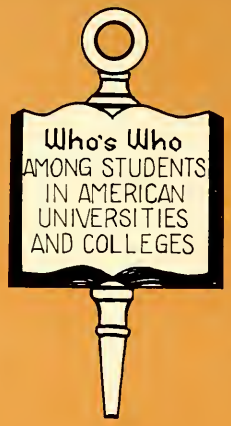
PSI CHI



WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES

Lisa Adamson, a senior journalism major, likes GSU's urban atmosphere and has done well here. Lisa has been involved as an Inceptor, member of the Incept Board of Governors, Omicron Delta Kappa Sophomore of the Year and vice-president, president of the Society of Professional Journalists, Greek Woman of the Year, ISC vice-president and publicity chairman, Alpha Xi Delta Outstanding Woman Student Award, president, rush chairman, ISC delegate for Alpha Omicron Pi, and as Alpha Omicron Pi of the year, in addition to being a Ms. GSU finalist, and a homecoming semi-finalist.

Michael J. Anderson found the Music Department of GSU to have the personal touch, and this graduating senior has proven his ability in academics as well as in music.

Michael has served as president of both state and GSU student chapters of the Music Educators National Convention, and the Choral Council. He served on the Board of the Georgia Music Educators Association. While being director of Music at St. Luke Lutheran Church, he was a member of the Golden Key National Honor Society, the Concert Choir, Oglethorpe Oratorio Society and the American Choral Directors Association.

William Oliver Brantley, Jr. after 18 quarters as a major in English literature likes GSU very much because of the opportunities he has had here. Recipient of the Dean's Key for Scholarship, the Senior Award, Mortar Board Award for Scholarship and Leadership. Will also has been on the Dean's List 12 times and is the Chairman of the Lyceum Film Committee and the Players Parliamentarian, as well as a charter member of the SGA Programs Board.

To Jill Bronson, GSU has been the place from which to step into AT&T's Management Development Program.

Jill, a marketing major from Cobb County, graduated in December 1977, and in her nine quarters at GSU received several scholarships and Mortar Board's Outstanding Leadership and Scholarship Senior Citation Award. In addition, Jill has been involved in Beta Gamma Sigma, Blue Key Honor Fraternity, Golden Key Honor Society, the Dean's Advisory Council, and Pi Sigma Epsilon as president.

To Marcella K. Bursi GSU's main attraction is the fact that "you can study anything from archaeology to public relations in one school, and not many universities in Georgia can say that!"

Marcella is involved on campus with the Auxiliary Corps, with Delta Gamma, with the SGA, ISC, the SIGNAL, and with the GSU Choral Union. She has also received the Delta Gamma President's Recognition Award, and is the honorary 1st Lieutenant of the U.S. Army ROTC.

Richard Forrest Chambers, a graduate student in business administration and twice President of the Graduate Class, believes GSU to be "among the finest educational institutions in the nation . . ." Often on the Dean's List, a member of Blue Key, Senior Class President in 1975, SGA parliamentarian 1975-76, and recipient of Mortar Board's Leadership Citation for 1975, Richard plans to graduate with his M.B.A. this spring. Not only is GSU a topnotch academic institution, but it also, says Richard, "meets the social needs of the community."

Cynthia Denise Clark, a senior marketing major, likes Georgia State because of the flexibility in scheduling and the different kinds of people to be found here.

Miss Omega Psi Phi for 1977, Denise has been involved in Incept and Delta Sigma Theta Sorority. An Omega Pearl and an ISC delegate, as well as a participant on the Black Student Life and Culture Committee, Denise is involved in her community in its Neighborhood Planning Unit and as secretary of the Youth Department at the Macedonia Baptist Church.

n athletically and academically honored person, Deborah Cooper of Jonesboro, a senior sociology or, likes GSU very much "because of the many dif- nt activities" and "the wonderful, interesting peo- " in addition to "the variety of degree programs" at J.

recipient of the athletic-academic award, most roved cross-country award, and the Dean's Key, orah is also involved with the Debate Team, the Pre Club (treasurer), the Tennis Team, the Track m, and Alpha Kappa Delta, a sociology honor soci-

Marc Conway DeLamater is a senior history major who thinks of Georgia State as being "a fine school with an excellent academic reputation." Marc has been active in the SGA and, among other things, has been the SGA representative from the College of Arts and Sciences, and the Chairman of the SGA Feedback Committee.

Jenny Doucher, a math major, plans to teach on the secondary level. An Inceptor and an Incept governor, President of Mortar Board, and in Omicron Delta Kappa, Jenny has been the Chief Justice of the Student Court at GSU, on the Athletic Board of Trustees, Programs Board Secretary, an Atlanta Young Life Leader 1974-1977, and Homecoming Chairman for 1977-1978.

Marjorie Hartnett Giambalvo, a senior business education major, appreciates the encouragement and the challenge provided by the faculty, and feels that without their interest her years at GSU would have been less enjoyable.

Marjorie is married and has three children. In addition to the responsibilities of her family, she has been the recipient of the Phi Kappa Phi Roy Brown Sewell Award and is involved with Mortar Board as newsletter chairman, Mu Rho Sigma as vice-president, the SGA on the Commencement Committee, and has been on the Dean's List.

Vickie Giddens, a biology pre-med major, has been actively involved in Incept, was the Junior Class President, held a position in the SGA, and was a GSU Player. Vickie serves in Delta Zeta as assistant treasurer.

Having also received Incept's Leadership Citation, Vickie is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, and she was an honor graduate with an Associate Degree in Pediatrics Assistance.

ary Ann Graham, a December 1977 graduate, ived a B.B.A. degree in management Summa Cum de, after transferring from Kennesaw Junior College n quarters ago. Having met here some "wonderful, rgettable friends," Mary Ann is the recipient of tar Board's outstanding scholarship and leadership d, the GSU President's Plaque, the Dean's Key, the etta Jaycettes Outstanding Student Award, in addi- was on the Dean's List with distinction every quar- t KJC and GSU, and was president of Mu Rho a, and a member of American Society of Personnel inistrators and Golden Key National Honor Soci-

Steven H. Haase likes GSU's flexible urban environment, and as an insurance major soon to graduate, has been a member of the Georgia State Debate Team, past vice-president and Rush Chairman, as well as recipient of the Outstanding Achievement Award for Sigma Nu, current president of Gamma Iota Sigma National Insurance Fraternity, past treasurer of the SGA, and past secretary of the IFC.

To Steve Hoffman, GSU has been a place to prove himself — and that he has. As a member of Blue Key National Honor Society and a founding member of Golden Key National Honor Society, Steve considers himself as mostly an academically oriented person. In addition, Steve is president of Pi Sigma Epsilon and the recipient of the Sales and Marketing Executives of Atlanta Scholarship and the Lewis F. Gordon Scholarship, among others.

A senior accounting major, Steve has also been advertising manager of the Signal for the past four quarters.

J. Carl Jackson of Marietta, a senior journalism major, is an often honored person, being the Sigma Nu National Leadership Institute Selectee for 1977 (one of 20 nationally).

Also involved with WRAS as current General Manager, Carl has been an Inceptor, a SIGNAL photographer, is a member of the Society of Professional Journalists.

To Melinda James GSU has been a place to develop personally and socially. Active in both the Greek system as a Delta Zeta and in the ISC as Constitution Committee Chairperson. She served in SGA as the College of Education's representative, elections committee chairperson, concerts committee, Action Court Justice Selection Committee, and Action Committee of Leadership Conclave.

After 18 quarters at GSU, Melinda is planning a spring 1978 graduation to finish an active college career.

Debi Liddell loves Atlanta! The vibrant intensity she ls for the eight generation home town of her family is dent in all that she undertakes. A senior journalism jor, Debi boasts of quite a number of achievements. ng with being Incept president and Mortar Board grams chairperson, Debi has been involved in Touch Earth, intramural tournaments, and each of the on-npus media. Other significant involvements include isory committee to the Georgia General Assembly.

Karen Joann Maschke, a recent urban life graduate and a current graduate student in political science, was the recipient of Mortar Board's Leadership and Scholastic award, a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, a former SGA representative, and served on the SGA Speakers Committee, as well as being chairperson of the SGA Women's Committee.

Valeri Marshall, a senior nursing major, plans to graduate in June and has enjoyed the opportunity to work while going to GSU. Valeri has been involved with Delta Zeta in many different positions; she was also a Sigma Nu little sister, Citation Chairman for Mortar Board, Book Exchange Chairperson for Blue Key, a member of Golden Key, and a member of the GSU Student Nurses Association. Valeri has been involved in her church choir and is a Sunday school teacher. In addition, she has been a Red Cross Volunteer and a Literacy Action Volunteer.

Robert Luttrell McBath, Jr., after 20 quarters at GSU, is majoring in the history of Victorian and Edwardian Europe. Bob feels that GSU is "a great school located in the heart of a great city." Recipient of Mortar Board's Leadership Citation and president of the GSU Players, Bob has been the Student Representative to the Executive Board of the Georgia Theatre Conference, a member of Young Democrats, a charter member and parliamentarian for Young Republicans, and a member of the High Museum of Art, and the Heraldry Society in London.

Robby Myers, a soon to be graduate in accounting, enjoys meeting the interesting and diverse people here at GSU. Robby's honors, offices and involvements include being Pi Kappa Alpha president, vice-president, and assistant treasurer, SGA representative, IFC delegate, Omicron Delta Kappa Honor Society, Mortar Board, and Beta Alpha Psi Accounting Fraternity. Robby has also been actively involved in Incept.

Charles W. Oddo, a senior from Fayetteville majoring marketing, has a "tremendous" fondness for GSU — stly as a result of the instructors and the administra- n. Charles' instructors have shown him their desire to s on their knowledge: in his own words, "This I atly appreciate."

The honors which Charles has received include the lliam Suttles Foundation Award, Davison's Merit olarship, Dean's List, and membership in Golden y. Charles is also a past secretary of Pi Sigma Epsilon d president of Blue Key Honor Fraternity.

Tanya Yvette Pittman, a senior communications major, likes GSU "a great deal . . . because it offers me a quality education and a variety of experiences."

Miss Black Alliance Queen (1975-1976), Tanya has been awarded the SGA Leadership Citation and is involved in Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, the Black Students Life and Culture Committee of the SGA, and is presently training to be a news announcer at WRAS.

Ronnie Scheinfeld, a senior accounting major, says that GSU provides a "high caliber education" for many diverse types of students. Ronnie has been named the Best Alpha Epsilon Pi pledge, the most spirited, and has received two Alpha Epsilon Pi scholastic awards. In addition, he is current Alpha Epsilon Pi president. Ronnie is also a member of Golden Key and the leadership conclave action committee.

James Steven Siracusa, a senior marketing major, has excelled in athletics in addition to participating socially and academically. A four year letterman for GSU varsity soccer and recipient of the Sun-Belt Conference Goalkeeper Award for 1977, Jim is on the Recreational Advisory Council, is executive vice-president of the SGA, and on many SGA committees, Sigma Nu's Chaplain, Assistant Pledge Marshal, and on Sigma Nu's Executive Council. GSU, Jim says, "provides excellent academics with constant, dynamic social opportunities."

Sheryl Smith likes being downtown and, as a senior journalism major, has been awarded the SGA Leadership Certificate, a RAMPWAY certificate of merit, and is also past recording secretary and social chairman, as well as 1977-78 president of Zeta Tau Alpha, a Sigma Nu Sweetheart, Selections Chairman for Mortar Board, a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, Sigma Delta Chi (a professional journalism society), and the College of Arts and Sciences representative to the SGA.

Richard F. Stewart, Jr., thinks of GSU's urban environment as being a "real world environment." A senior majoring in finance, Richard is involved with Chi Phi as president and rush chairman, the IFC, Director of Decision Sciences Lab, with Blue Key, Mortar Board, Phi Eta Sigma, Beta Gamma Sigma, Omicron Delta Kappa, recipient of the Dean's Key and Sparks Memorial Medal, in addition to being on the Dean's List ten times in 14 quarters, and being a part-time instructor in the pool of general studies.

Julie Summers, a biology major, has been Senior Class President, involved in Delta Zeta, the Belle Corps, Leadership Conclave Action Committee, the SGA, and is the recipient of the Dean's Key with distinction.

Sophia Weatherby, a political science major, has been actively involved in Omicron Delta Kappa, Alpha Omicron Pi, the World Affairs Council, President of the Russian Culture Society, the SGA, Belle Corps. Sophia was also chosen as Zeta Tau Alpha's Outstanding Woman Student of the Year.

John H. Wynn, III, thinks GSU is convenient for working full-time while going to school. On the Dean's List, John is also involved in Mortar Board, Incept, Tau Kappa Epsilon, WRAS as Music Director and an announcer, CCTV advisory committee, the World Affairs Council as president, and has served on the Greek Week Committee.

A political science major, John plans to graduate this June.

STEREO ATLANTA

WRAS is the voice of GSU. Continuously airing music, news, and topics of special interest, WRAS is completely run by students, and offers students an opportunity to learn about and become involved in the world of radio broadcasting.

In addition to broadcasting, WRAS annually sponsors such events as a road rally, and record and t-shirt give-aways. WRAS, 88.5 FM, "The Progressive Alternative to Commercial Radio."

"Read the SIGNAL" is an advertising slogan with which most of are familiar. Our GSU SIGNAL is one of the largest university vspapers in the southeast, and incorporates not only school nts within its pages, but also events in the surrounding commu- es, and with broader scope, events in the city, the state, the ion, and even international events, where the occasion warrants

Completely run by GSU students, the SIGNAL has a large student circulation and is partially supported by the sale of advertising. The SIGNAL also offers much useful information, and thoughtful editorials. Need a soapbox? Use the SIGNAL! It offers a "Letters to the Editor" section which is open to any GSU student and can be used to express, among other things, thanks (or as the case may be) no-thanks.

So many words and lines on paper, so ıany images on film, so many thoughts nd ideas. Perfection in institutional his- ɔriography is the goal, and the means by which the goal is achieved is recording the events (and, as much as possible, the words, the images, the thoughts, and the ideas) of the people here.

The GSU Players offer to us a cultural enrichment and background without which our college education would be less full, less rich, and less rewarding. They present with excellence a series of plays each quarter, and among the volunteer organizations on campus, the Players are the most envied, the most praised, and indeed the most worthy of praise.

THE GSU REVIEW

The GSU REVIEW: a refuge from the storm of revision; an asylum for the work of our best writers, photographers, and artists. A forum for today, and for what is happening today in the fine arts. A magazine published quarterly, into which flows and then out of again the intensity of emotion which is so characteristic of today's American creators. A respected book: an elite gathering of the best by the best at the best.

orientation for the urban student

To catalogue the history of Incept over the last year is a difficult task. To address the success that Incept has had on campus, or to address the recognition that Incept has enjoyed nationally as an innovative orientation program for the commuter student, would be too easy. Every student knows how well Incept works and how hard the Inceptors work to make the program work . . . now there's the key: the Inceptors.

Inceptors are "an open door toward new horizons," "reliable students that have answers for the lost," "the first step toward a well-adjusted student body." A little bit etherealized? Perhaps. But the Inceptors do a great job, and we are proud.

Debi Liddell, Incept president and enthusiast, to whom we are grateful not only for the quotes above, but also for the great job she has done, adds, "Georgia State is a wealth of opportunity. Incept has helped me to inherit some of that wealth."

Student Government Association

Georgia State University

The Student Government Association provides a service without which we at Georgia State would definitely suffer. A large university, of necessity, must sometimes be impersonal for the sake of efficiency. Our SGA makes sure that we, as students, are not lost in the shuffle.

Apathy may be a problem at our university, as it is at most universities, but our student government is not apathetic: their involvement does not make up for the lack of it elsewhere, but they do keep the interests of the students in the thoughts and plans of the administration and faculty.

The SGA confronted many issues this year, the biggest of which were probably the increase in the student activity fee and the proposed alternating class schedule. We are fortunate to have a SGA to lobby for our desires and needs on these developments.

We'll pay your college tuition and throw in trips to the mountains

That's right. As a man or woman enrolled in the advanced ROTC program of Georgia State University, you'll automatically receive $2500 (which more than pays your tuition for four years). In addition, you may compete for scholarships that pay your tuition, books, and lab fees — plus $100 a month spending money. All we ask in return is three hours of your time each week, a single summer camp, and three months of active duty as a commissioned second lieutenant in the U.S. Army. Is there an easier way to pay for your education?

It's doubtful. Especially when you consider that ROTC puts no restrictions on your academic study or your chosen career. You are free to major in any field you like. You can even give ROTC a "trial run," in that you may drop Basic, no-obligation, ROTC any time you choose. As a graduate you may serve most of your duty obligation in the Reserves in your home community.

You can complete ROTC in as little as two years by taking advantage of a special condensed program by having participated in JROTC in high school or by being a veteran.

People from every academic discipline enroll in ROTC, and most find the training in management and leadership they receive as most valuable in their civilian careers. And note: Women are equal to men in every respect in Army ROTC.

Oh, those trips to the mountains? Well, that refers to the nonacademic option of the Basic ROTC program that includes your choice of rafting, marksmanship, orienteering, and more, in addition to mountaineering. It's the option most students choose. Get the details on all the options offered by Army ROTC at Georgia State University. Write the Department of Military Science, Georgia State University, University Plaza, Atlanta, Georgia 30303. Or call 404/658-2275.

We have tainted this year and its events with ourselves, our personalities, our participation. We toil to create a new day every morning. The new days become history, and grouped together, become our lives.

J. Slig

We come, we go. It is what we have that counts here. When the time comes to move on, what we were here will be left behind, and it will count where we go what we are there.

R. Laurens

This year, we were all here; this year, all that we did taken together becomes all that we have done.

We are the ones. We have made all that was made here. All that was done here was done by us, and nothing was done here that was not done by our decision, or lack of one.

In the years to come, we can look back with these things as confidences: we were here, and our presence here has made everything different.
